WAS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

SO SAID THE JURY IN THE PHILLIPS CASE

Shooting Occurred at Millburn Last Friday Evening—"Did Not Know It Was Loaded."

On Friday evening, May 18, the peaceful little town of Millburn was shocked at the accident which took place within its limits, when Mrs. John Phillips accidentally shot and killed her husband. He was standing in the kitchen of the home of his brother-in-law. As a result of the accident, Mrs. Phillips, a bride of only a few short months is prostrated with grief. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are comparatively strangers in this vicinity having moved from Tennessee to Illinois only recently.

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Phillips who reside near Hickory had on this particular evening gone to the home of their brother, Frank Odon, who resides at Millburn, and there the terrible accident took place.

Odon and Phillips had planned to go to a dance that evening where the latter was a musician, was to play. Mr. Odon stepped to his trunk which stood in the sitting room and took from it his shaving outfit, the two men then passed on to the kitchen leaving the trunk open. Shortly after Mrs. Phillips entered the room and seeing the revolver lying in the trunk picked it up and pointing it at the floor snapped the trigger three times, as there was no discharge she very naturally concluded that the weapon was not loaded. Thinking to play a joke on her husband she walked to the kitchen and holding up the revolver in a spirit of fun called out, "Look out John, I am going to shoot!" and just as her husband turned about she pulled the trigger, when to her horror there was a sharp report and the bullet entered his right temple, inflicting a wound from which he expired in a short time.

Coroner Taylor was summoned and an inquest was held at which he impanelled a jury composed of Wm. White, Alfred Spafford, Wm. Thom, John Thain, Geo. Kennedy and Elmer Pollock, who returned a verdict of accidental shooting. Mrs. Phillips is about eighteen years of age and her husband was about seven years her senior.

To Resume Business.

L. W. Rowling, of Lake Villa, wishes to announce to his many customers that he will resume business this week in his temporary quarters, on the north side of the street, opposite from his old stand, with a full line of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, etc. A new store will be commenced at once, and these temporary quarters will allow him to still continue serving his customers in the future as in the past.

All He Could Find.

Lieut. Pouillon, who spent several years in the Philippines, is not enthusiastic over the natives. He says they are very stupid.

The lieutenant tried to educate a country lad to act as his valet. With the boy he was starting on a trip to the interior, when he remembered that he had left behind him the heavy riding gloves so necessary in the thick brush. He instructed his "chico" to go back for them, describing at length the particular pair of gloves he wanted. The messenger smiled and nodded, and off he went. Imagine the disgust of the lieutenant when he returned with a mixed pair—one heavy and one light full-dress glove.

"You blockhead! Can't you see that those two gloves are not alike? How can I wear one of each kind? Go straight back and change them."

Half an hour later the boy appeared again with the same mismates. "Excuse me," he said, with a hurt expression, "I looked everywhere, and all I could find was another pair exactly like this—one light and one heavy."—New York Times.

Pointer on Caring for Hens.

To reach body lice on fowls it is necessary to handle each bird, applying a good insect powder through the feathers and down to the skin. If this is done three times, about a week or ten days apart, the birds will thereafter keep themselves substantially free of body lice, if supplied with a good dust bath. This is the method adopted on the large poultry plants.

Swallows in Palestine.

In Palestine the swallows are allowed not only the freedom of the houses and living rooms, but of the mosques and tombs, where they build their nests and rear their young.

E. F. D. Notes.

On June 15th two more routes will be started out of Antioch, one running west to Hatch's Corners, Wilmet, and home through "Pollywog." The other runs to Beach Grove, Toby Inn, Grass Lake, down the east side of Fox Lake, over to Monmouth and home.

There were only five or six more applicants who took the examination in Waukegan than there are routes in this county, most, if not quite all of the excess being from Antioch.

A few suggestions with regard to the service: In the first place, don't get a Vollet "Signal" Box. They cost nearly or quite twice as much as they should, and are not a handy box by any means. The worst feature about them is that they will freeze so they can't be opened in a sleet or ice storm. They are fastened through the bottom, the nails or screws projecting upwards catches a letter so that the carrier can not slide it out of the box, but must get under the edge of the missile with his nails, which is not a pleasant task when the thermometer registers fifteen or twenty below zero. The flag system is not a good one and a majority of them do not work at that. A very fine flag system may be seen on the box sold by E. B. Williams, at Williams Bros. store. This box also opens at the top, which is recommended by the government. These boxes cost $1.35 and are a durable and convenient box. The Milwaukee Sentinel box is also a good and convenient box. But the reversible flag system on the box sold by E. B. Williams is the best the writer has yet seen.

The patrons of the route should be careful to lower the flag when they take the mail out of the box. Several leave the flags up all the time, which is not right. The carrier comes along and opens the box only to find nothing in it. Another thing which some of the patrons seem unable to remember: When putting money in the box always wrap it in paper, then wrap both money and letter in another paper.

Radium to Illuminate Gun Sights.

The discovery of the latest use to which radium can be put—the illumination of gun sights, and the like at night time—seems to indicate that it will play an important part in warfare.

In gun sights, leveling instruments and telescopes there is what is called a "fiducial" mark, which is used to obtain a faithful result.

These marks of course are useless in the dark, and though many ways of illuminating them have been tried, nothing has proved satisfactory.

Mr. Andrew A. Common of Eatonville, Fla., was the first to attempt to solve the difficulty by the use of radium, and his experiments were so successful that he applied for a patent. Unfortunately, he did not live to have it granted, but the complete specifications submitted by Mrs. Common, his widow and executrix, have just been accepted.—London Daily Mail.

An Unkind Question.

It was shortly after the house committee of the Democratic club promulgated a resolution that evening dress should be worn by members and visitors who dined or paid evening visits to the club, that Tom Dunn, the former sheriff, fell into a library arm chair one night.

Mr. Dunn's own garb would have passed muster at Marlborough House, so he looked up upon the throng in confidence and content.

There came a certain man of business to the club that night who wore an evening suit which was well-fitting, expensive, and correct in detail.

But he did not look comfortable. Pride kept him quiet for a few moments, at the end of which pride caused him to ask:

"How do you like it, Tom?"

"It's immense," said Dunn; "why don't you buy it?"—New York Telegraph.

Women Who Raise Alligators.

Raising alligators is the latest fad of a woman in Florida. Her liking for these gruesome pets is stranger than a Chicago woman's love for mice. These ugly creatures blink their green eyes at her with a fondness she alone appreciates. She says they are intelligent, but are hard to understand. And their peculiar habit of snapping at food leaves little time for any petting.

"Occasionally they look at me with affection," she says, "and then I try some little familiarity, but making friends is a slow process."

She raises these pets for sale and often makes large sums by disposing of them to zoos and collectors of alligators. But this woman from Florida is not the only one who has fondness for alligators, for the duchess of Bedford, who holds a first place in England's aristocracy, has a pool where her pet alligators have a life of luxury and ease.

Deaths From Consumption.

Deaths from consumption are divided by ages as follows: Under 45, 50 per cent; 45 to 60, 29 per cent; above 60, 12 per cent.

WAS BY ACCLAMATION

FOSS NOMINATED FOR CONGRESS FOR FIFTH TIME

Convention at Ravenswood Renominated the Congressman to Succeed Himself.

The Congressional Convention of the Tenth Congressional district was held at Ravenswood on Tuesday last. C. J. Bassett of Chicago was chosen chairman, and Frank Just of Libertyville as secretary. Charles Whitney was chosen as chairman of the Lake County delegation.

Hon. Geo. Edmund Foss was renominated for Congress by acclamation. On being called upon Mr. Foss delivered an interesting speech telling of his work and its far reaching influence and at the close heartily thanked the convention for their confidence and loyalty to him.

After his speech the convention resumed its work and made the following nominations:

For State Board of Equalization, Robt. M. Simon of Chicago.

For Delegates to National Convention, Jas. C. Patton of Evanston and James Pease of Chicago.

Alternates Mr. Pettibone and Wm. Fitts of Chicago.

For Presidential Elector E. A. Warren of Highland Park.

After the convention, Postmaster Murrie of Waukegan invited the Lake County delegates and their friends to a dinner with him in Chicago, where a bounteous repast was served. The delegates had been unable to procure dinner before the convention and by four o'clock in the afternoon a more hungry lot it would be hard to find. For this generous act on the part of Mr. Murrie the entire delegation were as a unit in sounding his praise and were assured by him that should the occasion again arise he stood ready and willing to play the part of the genial host.

Care in Small Things.

Charles W. Dayton tells of an incident in the life of the late William R. Grace that throws light upon the trait in his character for which his intimates most esteemed him. This trait was his habitual consideration for even the small interests of his associates.

One day, prior to his accession to the mayoralty, Mr. Grace sent for Mr. Dayton and another prominent Democratic politician with whom he wished to consult. At some inconvenience they called, sending in their cards together. When the callers rose to withdraw, Mr. Grace picked the cards from his desk, extended each to its owner, and smilingly explained:

"Your cards, gentlemen. They are of no further use to me, and no doubt you can use them again."

Host of friends of Grace will acknowledge the aptness of the reminiscence.—New York Mail.

Hunting Gold in an Auto.

Two Denver men have set out in an automobile on a six months' trip to prospect for gold and other mineral deposits in their own state and in Arizona and New Mexico. They are E. F. Kelly and Smith McKay, both mining men. They and other Coloradans have satisfied themselves by experience that autos are serviceable in the mountain districts, and they decided to introduce them in prospecting.

They carry a full camping outfit, mining tools, a repair kit, and provisions for one week. They think that with the auto they will always be within reach of a place where they can replenish their larder, so have given up to camp comfort part of the space they might have devoted to provisions.

CASE OF RELATIVE VALUES.

Apt Reply Earned Renomination for Robert Toombs.

Frequent complaint has been made of late because members of congress have absented themselves from sessions. This reminded Congressman Hardwick of Georgia of an occurrence many years ago. Robert Toombs was a candidate to succeed himself, but was accused by an opponent of being absent a great deal. The matter was brought up by his rival for the nomination at a joint debate and this was Bob's reply: "Fellow citizens, for the sake of argument we will admit that the charge brought by my opponent is true and that I have been absent from the sessions of the house. Admitting, as I say, for the sake of the argument, that it is true, I will ask you this question, which can you better afford, to have me in congress and absent from the sessions, or have me present at the sessions?" The contest was settled on the spot, for Toombs was elected by his usual huge majority.

One is in Danger.

The only two great European capitals that never have been occupied by a foreign foe are London and St. Petersburg.

DAN DALY AND THE EDITOR.

Comedian Had Rather the Best of Short Controversy.

Dan Daly in his younger days essayed to write fiction, and went to the editor of a Boston paper with his first effusion. The editor criticised the work severely and advised the future comedian to study Nathaniel Hawthorne.

The vein of humor peculiar to Daly had developed even at that early date. He said reflectively:

"If my story were printed it would measure about half a column, would it not?"

"About that," replied the editor, wondering what that had to do with it.

"Your rate of payment is $5 per column, I believe?" pursued the young man.

"Yes."

"Good day. I like to be pleasant and agreeable and popular with everybody; I am even willing to detest Hawthorne to please an editor—but not for $2, not for $2."

Whereupon he casually departed.—New York Times.

Shrewd Yankee Peddler.

A handsome Yankee peddler, who made love to a buxom widow in Pennsylvania, accompanied his declaration with an allusion to two impediments to their union.

"Name them," said the widow.

"The want of means to set up a retail store," was the reply.

They parted and the widow sent the peddler a check sufficient for his purpose. When they met again the peddler had hired and stocked his store, and the smiling fair one begged to know the other impediment.

"I have another wife!" exclaimed the notion dealer.

Night Air Not Unhealthy.

It is a mistake to suppose that night air in towns is unhealthy. In most cases it is purer between ten at night and six in the morning than at any other part of the twenty-four hours.

Would Be Difficult to Breathe.

If a well could be dug forty-six miles into the earth, the air at the bottom would, at the proportion maintained at the surface of the globe, have the density of quicksilver.

Trains Men to Be Consuls.

The consular academy of Vienna, for the training of young men who contemplate entering the Austrian consular service, has no counterpart anywhere in the world. When founded in 1762 as the Oriental Academy its purposes were the same as now, but through the influence of the Austrian minister of foreign affairs it was recently placed upon a distinctly modern footing, in recognition of the value of its service to the State. Its curriculum was rearranged to meet the requirements of the modern consular service to the fullest extent and a building of great architectural beauty was especially erected for it.

Eight modern languages are taught and in addition thorough work in economics, political science, history and jurisprudence is given for the period of five years. Emphasis is placed upon subjects which possess special value in the conduct of consular duties, such as commercial geography, commercial history, commercial law and modern history, with special reference to the diplomatic and consular relations of the leading countries of the world. Nor is proper physical training neglected. Regular hours are devoted to turning, fencing, riding, dancing and swimming. Having successfully completed the final examinations of the course, the graduates are entered by the government into lower positions of the consular service. The attendance at the academy is limited to meet the demands of the consular service.

BAD DREAMS.

Indicate Improper Diet, Usually Due to Coffee.

One of the common symptoms of coffee poisoning is the bad dreams that spoil what should be restful sleep. A man who found the reason says:

"Formerly I was a slave to coffee. I was like a morphia fiend, could not sleep at night, would roll and toss in my bed, and when I did get to sleep was disturbed by dreams and hobgoblins, would wake up with headaches and feel bad all day, so nervous I could not attend to business. My writing looked like bird tracks. I had sour belchings from the stomach, indigestion, heartburn and palpitation of the heart, constipation, irregularity of the kidneys, etc.

"Indeed, I began to feel that I had all the troubles that human flesh could suffer, but when a friend advised me to leave off coffee I felt as if he had insulted me. I could not bear the idea, it had such a hold on me, and I refused to believe it the cause.

"But it turned out that no advice was ever given at a more needed time, for I finally consented to try Postum, and with the going of coffee and the coming of Postum all my troubles have gone and health has returned. I eat and sleep well now, nerves steadied down and I write a fair hand (as you can see), can attend to business again and rejoice that I am free from the monster 'Coffee.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ten days' trial of Postum in place of coffee will bring sound, restful, refreshing sleep. There's a reason.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

Chicago. Dun's weekly review of Chicago trade says: Apprehension as to the course of business during the ensuing months does not appear reasonably warranted because of renewed labor unrest and disquieting crop reports. It is yet too early to determine to what extent agriculture may be adversely affected throughout the West, but at present it does not appear that the pending winter wheat sections have suffered much deterioration. The week has witnessed the outbreak of several strikes, yet these are confined to limited forces of men, and arbitration measures are expected to insure early adjustments. Against the unfavorable features there are to be considered several encouraging indications.

The volume of bank exchanges surpasses that of the corresponding week of both last year and 1902, very good evidence that debility is not characteristic of the industrial situation. Mercantile defaults disclose no tendency toward an increasing ratio, and, in addition to cheaper money than a year ago, there is added strength in leading products and distribution.

The improvement which set in with the advent of seasonable weather has been well sustained. Retail trade reached the highest activity for the year thus far, and there was stronger demand in the jobbing branches on more liberal orders from the Northwest and the Southwest. In the manufacturing branches there is steady employment, with gain in output appearing in steel, machinery and woodworking lines.

Grain shipments, 1,794,172 bushels, are the best in the past few weeks, but are 40.03 per cent under those a year ago. Buying of breadstuffs has shown better within the last few days, and while flour is weak, prices advanced in wheat 2 cents a bushel, oats five-eighths of a cent and corn one-half cent. Live stock receipts, 321,553 head, compare with 285,201 head for the previous week and 241,053 head a year ago. Choice cattle were in best demand and advanced 15 cents a hundredweight. Heavy sheep reacted from recent high figure and shrank 35 cents, while hogs declined 7 1/2 cents.

New York.

Somewhat better retail distribution has followed improvement in temperature, but it came too late to recover any large part of the tardy season's injury to spring trade. Quiet conditions are noted in practically all lines of wearing apparel, with the exception of specialties, such as tan shoes, that cannot be delivered with sufficient rapidity.

The percentage of idle factories has increased, especially in textiles and footwear, and a change in style has rendered unavailable much silk machinery. Structural work is increasing.

Recovery in the iron and steel industry is again retarded by the unexpected dissolution of the Ore Association.

Fuel conditions are unchanged, antitrapic continuing active, while coke and bituminous coal are dull and weak.

After last week's exceptionally heavy transactions it was natural that the Western hide markets should become inactive. Prices remain firm, however.

MANY BALLOTS TAKEN

ILLINOIS REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN DEADLOCK

Breaks All Previous Records in Effort to Nominate a Candidate for Governor—Yates, Lowden and Deneen Run in Order Named.

Springfield correspondence:

Fifteen ballots for Governor were had in the Republican State convention Friday, held in Springfield, and the difference between the first and last was only 12 out of 1,500. The last ballot practically was a duplicate of the first, the changes being immaterial.

Then the convention, weary by more than twelve hours of sensational, continuous balloting, adjourned just before 11 p. m. until 10 o'clock Saturday.

If it failed to nominate a candidate the convention session Friday, succeeded in breaking all records for State nominating bodies. It stands without any recent parallel that delegates in a political body should ballot more than twelve solid hours without adjournment for meals and then be unable to reach a choice.

The delegates when they left the convention hall late Friday night had done what no other State convention has done—they had struggled in a deadlock trying to nominate a candidate for Governor for one solid day and evening and had given up the effort through weariness with the vote standing practically unchanged.

Saturday's Session.

A deadlock that seemed unbreakable—seven candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor in practically the same position as when the balloting started, twenty-four times roll calls, and politicians all further at sea than ever regarding the outcome—this is the story at the close of the third day of the Republican State convention, which at 7:30 Saturday night adjourned till 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The day was productive of nothing save nine ballots, none of which resulted in a change in the relative positions of the candidates, although in the eighth ballot of the day—the twenty-third of the convention—there was a slight flurry when some of the country delegations whose votes had been scattering, went to Hamilton. Of the thirty-eight votes thus gained, thirteen were lost immediately afterward.

The demonstration from the enthusiastic Hamilton wing was the one feature of the day's gathering, and relieved the humdrum surface monotony of the two sessions that were held. The rise in the stock of the Attorney General was so slight, however, that the other leaders were unconcerned at the demonstration.

Monday's Session.

After twenty-nine ballots on Governor the Republican State convention took another recess Monday evening until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Conferences of candidates, managers and delegates dragged their weary length, but there were then no signs of a break in the deadlock.

Five ballots on Governor were taken Monday, but the changes were insignificant. The "boss" counties and pivotal districts stood pat and, so far as could be seen, no progress was made toward a settlement. A comparison of the first and twenty-ninth or latest ballot shows that Colonel Lowden is the only candidate to develop a net gain. On the twenty-nine ballots Lowden gained fifty votes, while Yates lost twenty-six, Hamilton six, Deneen four and Sherman ten, making allowance for Rock Island's twenty-one delegates, who voted for the Macomb man on the first ballot and were expected to support Colonel Lowden on subsequent roll calls.

None of the leaders seemed to know of any solution of the tangle Monday night. Each candidate persisted in the hope that he would be nominated. Factional managers reiterated stereotyped assurances of ultimate success, but none of the claims made was accompanied by a bill of particulars.

Following are the results of twenty-nine ballots:

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY THE ILLINOIS REPUBLICANS AT SPRINGFIELD

The Republicans of Illinois, in convention assembled, and in the presence of the great achievements of the party, as written in the progress and prosperity of the nation under Republican administration, pledge themselves anew to the principles of the party as expressed in the national platform of 1900.

We view with satisfaction the fulfillment of Republican pledges and the proofs of Republican fidelity to its mission, as exemplified in the maintenance of a protective tariff, under which American industries have expanded so marvelously; in the establishment of measures calculated to prevent encroachments on individual rights by trusts and monopolies; in the upholding and strengthening of legislation in the interest of honesty and efficiency in the public service; in the recognition of the equal rights of citizens; in the promotion of domestic and foreign trade, and the advancement of the cause of labor through the creation of the Department of Commerce and Labor; in the extension of the rural free delivery system; in the repeal of war taxes; in the scrupulous observance of our obligations in withdrawing our authority and troops from Cuba and securing to its people political independence under a Republican form of government; in the eminently satisfactory reciprocity treaty with Cuba; in the sense of weighty obligation and in the broad minded statesmanship attending the solution of the problem of the government of the Philippine Islands; in the nation's policy for the construction of an isthmian canal and in the prompt recognition of the republic of Panama as a measure of justice to the people of the new republic and as a means indispensable to the success of the great project; in the wisdom and strength which have distinguished our foreign policy, with its signal triumphs for the "open door."

We desire especially to give full credit to the money policy of our national administration in contributing to our present unexampled prosperity; and we again pledge the party to the maintenance of the gold standard and to financial legislation that will secure equal justice to all.

We reaffirm our loyalty to the protective tariff policy which has advanced the United States to the position of the foremost industrial nation, astonished the world with the wonderful development of our boundless resources, increased our foreign commerce, invited the investment of capital, and enhanced the prosperity of the farmer and the laborer. The prospect of a general revision of the tariff by the Democratic party, whose leaders in Congress are free traders, as their records show, would close the factories and workshops, throw labor out of employment, reduce the price of the products of the farm, bring on general distress, and paralyze the industries of the nation.

We favor such appropriations by Congress as may be necessary to place our navy in point of strength and efficiency in its proper position among the navies of the world.

In the course of a war, righteously inaugurated and prosecuted, the Philippine Islands came into the possession of the United States. The Republican party assumed the responsibility of establishing law and order, fostering education and all measures to advance the interests of inhabitants of these islands, morally, intellectually, and financially, which policy we will steadily pursue.

European nations have been trying for years to control the markets in the Orient. Our possession of these islands under the law of nations gives us the right to a voice in the affairs of that part of the world.

Through the diplomatic correspondence conducted by the eminent statesman, John Hay, Secretary of State, by direction of President McKinley, a written agreement was obtained from all of the leading countries of Europe to maintain the open door policy of trade in the Orient. We recognize this as the greatest diplomatic achievement of modern times. Accordingly, we are in favor of the retention of the Philippine Islands and of maintaining the open door policy of trade in eastern Asia. And we denounce the policy of the Democratic party in its desire to abandon the Philippine Islands, and by so doing not only destroy the liberty, order, progress, and protection which we have given to the people of these islands but likewise destroy the benefits to the American people in the future markets in that vast population.

The Republican party is the pioneer of anti-trust legislation. It enacted the Sherman law. It has from time to time amended it to meet new conditions. It has established its validity. It has certainly enforced it. We commend the attitude of Congress and also that of President Roosevelt for his courageous and vigorous prosecution of violators of it; and we favor such further legislation, State and National, as may be required.

We commend the wise, able and vigorous administration of President Roosevelt, and hereby instruct the delegates from this convention to the National Republican convention to contribute by their influence and votes to his nomination for President.

We appreciate and are grateful for the ability and ripe experience of Senators Cullom and Hopkins and Speaker Cannon and the Republican delegation in Congress. We value their services to the nation, the state, and to the party, and we commend them for their patriotic and untiring devotion to public duty.

We take pride in commending to the Republicans of the nation soon to be assembled in convention our distinguished fellow citizen, the Hon. Robert Hitt, for the office of Vice President of the United States, and we hereby instruct our delegates to the national convention to vote for him and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

We mourn the death of that stalwart Republican leader, the distinguished statesman, the genial and public spirited citizen, Marcus A. Hanna, late Senator from the State of Ohio.

We commend the record of Governor Yates and the various State officers in the management of the official affairs of the State, which have been conducted safely, systematically and economically, resulting in placing the State in splendid financial condition.

We commend the advanced step taken by the enactment of the last Republican Legislature under which, after July 1 next, the product of convict labor are to be withdrawn from competition with the free labor of the State.

At its last session the General Assembly adopted a joint resolution to submit to the people of Illinois an amendment to the State Constitution empowering the State Legislature to grant a special charter to the city of Chicago. The growth of Chicago has been impeded for years by charter restrictions, which have burdened its taxpayers and prevented needed reforms in its municipal government. The adoption of this amendment will require a majority of all the votes cast in the State at the next general election. We urge the adoption of this amendment and call upon the voters of Illinois without regard to party to assist in its adoption.

We are in favor of a compulsory primary election law, simple in its construction and capable of efficient and inexpensive operation, which shall be uniform throughout the State, and that all the primaries of any political party shall be held on the same day in all parts of the State.

Resolved, That the Republican State Committee of Illinois be, and it is accordingly hereby authorized and empowered to fill any vacancy or vacancies that may occur in nominations made at this convention.

Resolved, That the membership of the State Central Committee shall consist of one member from each congressional district to be selected by the delegates from their district, and two at large to be selected by the State convention. The committee is authorized in its discretion to select a chairman outside of its members.

The Next Republican Platform.

President Roosevelt, according to a trustworthy report from Washington, has informed Republican leaders that he prefers a short and concise platform—a declaration composed of a few paragraphs full of pith and meaning and vitality. "Above all," the President is quoted as saying to a gathering of distinguished and influential Republicans, "let it be a plain, direct, explicit platform, with no beating about the bush, no ambiguity, no mere phrases."

Who will not say "Amen" to this admirable proposal? The voters do not want elaborate reviews of public questions, treatises on government or catalogues of historical party achievements in the platforms of the National conventions. They do not like to see words multiplied without purpose, if not also without wisdom. Platforms should proclaim policies and announce intentions, and explanations and arguments should be left to the candidates and speakers.—Chicago Post.

Gold Imports and Exports.

During the operation of the Wilson-Gorman tariff we sent out of the country $112,000,000 in gold in excess of that received. During the last nine months we have imported $50,000,000 in excess of that exported. Protection gives us a favorable balance of trade large enough to pay our immense foreign obligations and a good balance besides. In short, everything is on the right side of the ledger.

Democracy's Efforts.

"Platitudinous output of timidities and insensibilities" is what the Washington Post calls the New York Democratic platform. But what else can the Democrats put forth? Haven't they tried twice to win with a "declaration of principles" and failed both times?

Quite Unnecessary.

"Jane," said the boarding-house landlady, "pass Mr. Newman the salt for his egg."

"Never mind the salt, thank you," rejoined the latest acquisition to the fold, "this egg is none too fresh as it is."

Her Idea.

Mr. Kwoter: "Well, you know, 'faint heart ne'er won fair lady.'"

Miss Key: "Nonsense! If the lady's heart isn't faint and she's willing to help him a little he can win every time."—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE WAR IN THE EAST

JAPAN'S SUCCESSES ON LAND AS NOTABLE AS ON SEA.

Mikado's Forces Seize Feng-Wang-Chang and Cut Off Port Arthur—Russians Retreating to Concentrate Their Armies—General War News.

Swift is the procession of events in the war in the Far East. After their defeat of the Russians at the Yalu, May 1, a defeat which cost the Czar's forces a loss of 2,304 men in killed, wounded and prisoners, the Japanese boldly pushed forward to Feng-Wang-Chang, where it had been asserted the Russians would give battle. The Russians, however, did not dare risk an engagement and the place fell into the hands of the Japanese, the enemy beating a retreat to Liao Yang, in the vicinity of which, it is now said, a battle will take place, should General Kuroki follow up his advantage. It is probable, however, that General Kuroki, the Czar's commander-in-chief, may find it necessary not to make a stand before the Japanese reach Mukden. It is said that he has not enough troops to meet the Japanese in open fight and hence his policy of retreating until he is sufficiently reinforced.

Meantime the Japanese have landed in heavy force on the Liao Tong peninsula and Port Arthur has been cut off by land and sea from all communication with the outside world. The landings were effected on the east and west coasts of the peninsula and within a short time the actual investment of Port Arthur should be made. Simultaneously with the forward movement of the Japanese army under Kuroki and the landing on the Liao Tong peninsula, the Russians began the evacuation of New Chwang, the chief town of Manchuria. The place, with General Kuroki advancing on the road to Liao Yang, was untenable by the Russians, unless they elected to remain and undergo a siege, and so the place was abandoned and the military stores sent northward to Liao Yang. With the exception of Port Arthur, the whole of the Liao Tong peninsula now remains in Japanese possession and probably another week will see all of Manchuria, south of Mukden, in the grasp of the Mikado's soldiers.

It is probable that a Japanese army will take possession of New Chwang and march forward toward Liao Yang to effect a junction with General Kuroki.

The Russian retreat, however, greatly strengthens the position of General Kuropatkin. Formerly his forces were scattered from New Chwang, in the west, half way up the Yalu River, in the east. Ignorance of the Japanese plan of campaign and the uncertainty of where the Japanese would strike rendered necessary this disposition. Now the Japanese plans of action are fairly well revealed and General Kuropatkin is concentrating his forces to meet the enemy's advance.

With the exception of the garrison at Port Arthur there are now no Russian soldiers further south in Manchuria than Liao Yang. What force General Kuropatkin has at his disposal is carefully concealed. It is said by some that 150,000 men, outside the garrisons, constitute the fighting forces of Russia in the Far East and from Paris comes the rumor that it will be July 21 before the last of the reinforcements which Kuropatkin needs for offensive operations shall have been dispatched from Europe. By that time it is asserted he will have 500,000 under him. Meantime 100,000 reserves have been called to the colors and Russia in further preparation for the struggle has placed a loan in Paris for $150,000,000.

Much interest centers in Port Arthur, which the Japanese will soon formally besiege. Before they can strike the place it will be necessary to force the strong earthworks defending the narrow neck of land forming the entrance to Kwan Tung promontory. These works, owing to the shallowness of the water, cannot be attacked from sea, while the railroad, which traverses the promontory, will enable the Russians to move troops rapidly to any desired point. Just how the fortress is prepared to stand a siege the world in general knows little. It has been said that it is provisioned for a year and that 50,000 men defend it. It has been said, too, that the place is actually short of provisions, and that the number of men defending it is only 7,000—some say 4,000. It doesn't seem natural that with three months' time, since the outbreak of hostilities, to provision it, the Russians would have been lax in this particular, and it may be assumed that the garrison is sufficiently strong to make a stubborn defense.

Meantime the rumor of sending the Baltic fleet to the Far East is again revived. It is said in St. Petersburg that the fleet, consisting of eleven ironclads and seventeen cruisers, will leave Cronstadt in July and will round Africa in its voyage. If this report is true, the Russians are evidently sanguine that Port Arthur and Vladivostok will be standing by that time.

Russia's First Line Smashed.

The overwhelming advance of Gen. Kuroki's army, after its victorious passage of the Yalu, compelled the Russians to give up Fengwangcheng without striking a blow in its defense. Newchwang has been evacuated and the Russians admit that they cannot hope to hold Haicheng. Thus Russia's first line of defense has been shattered almost without the firing of a gun. There seems to be nothing left but Liao yang—and then Mukden, and after that Harbin.

BLOW UP DALNY DOCKS

Russians Reported to Have Destroyed Improvements Costing Millions.

Viceroy Alexieff telegraphed to the Czar Thursday announcing that the Russians have blown up the docks and piers at Port Dalny, Liaotung peninsula, presumably to render more difficult a Japanese landing at that point.

Port Dalny, on Taitung bay, on the east coast of the Liaotung peninsula, was intended by Russia to be the chief commercial emporium of its eastern dominions. An edict providing for its construction was issued by the Russian Emperor July 30, 1880, and Port Dalny, fully equipped with all modern improvements, docks, warehouses and railroad facilities, was opened to commerce in December, 1901. Taitung bay is one of the finest deep-water harbors on the Pacific. It is free from ice in winter and ships drawing thirty feet of water can enter at low tide without difficulty, and without the aid of pilots cut and or steam alongside the immense docks and piers, where their cargoes can be loaded into railroad cars and run direct for 6,000 miles into the city of St. Petersburg. Five large piers had been constructed, each supplied with numerous railroad tracks and immense warehouses and elevators; gas, electric lights and water, and a large breakwater was being constructed so that ships could lie at the piers and load and unload regardless of weather. Docks for foreign vessels, steam and sail, extended between the piers and along the shore for two and a half miles. There were two first-class dry docks, one intended for ordinary ocean steamers and the other designed to accommodate the largest vessels of war or commerce. Over $6,000,000 had been expended on the harbor system before the end of 1902 and it was estimated that the cost of completing the works would be $20,000,000, but this does not in any way represent the total cost of the erection of this great commercial port, which, with Port Arthur, distant about twenty miles, was leased by the Chinese government to Russia in 1896. Nearly 25,000 men were employed daily on the work of constructing the port and town. The total population is estimated at about 60,000, mostly Chinese, Japanese, Koreans and Russians.

JAPANESE HEROES HONORED.

Decorations for Living and Dead Who Blocked Port Arthur.

The casualties in the attempt of the Japanese fleet to block Port Arthur, which took place on May 3, are one officer, Commander Takayangi, commanding the steamer Yodo Maru, and six men killed; four men seriously and five officers and eleven men slightly wounded. Fourteen officers and seventy-four men are missing and eight officers and thirty-six men were rescued uninjured. All the officers of the blocking ships, including Commander Takayangi, who was killed, have been decorated and granted annuities by the Emperor.

Every supplemental report received from Gen. Kuroki, commanding the first Japanese army, increases the Russian casualties in Sunday's battle at Chien-cheng, on the Yalu river. The Japanese have buried about 1,400 Russians and have 503 of the enemy's wounded in the field hospitals. It is estimated that the total Russian casualties exceed 2,600. Over 300 Russian prisoners were sent to Matsuyama.

The official report of the Japanese casualties shows that the guards lost one officer and twenty men killed and had seven officers and 122 men wounded. The second division lost one officer and eighty-four men killed and thirteen officers and 805 men wounded. The twelfth division had three officers and seventy-six men killed and five officers and 263 men wounded.

CZAR CALLS RESERVES.

Imperial Ukase Orders Out Troops in Six Provinces.

An imperial ukase issued in St. Petersburg calls out the reserves of several districts in the governments of Poltava, Kursk, Kharkoff, Ryazan, Kaluga and Tula, with the view of the completion of the units to be sent to the Far East from the military districts of Kiev and Moscow.

There is a complete absence of official information. The authorities are as silent as the grave concerning Gen. Kuropatkin's plans, only declaring that his tactics will be vindicated. The report of the appearance of the enemy at Kwantien, on the Mukden road, from the Yalu, causes some disquietude. If the Japanese could get on this road, above Liao yang, the Russian position there would be threatened. The St. Petersburg papers seem more concerned about the effect of the Japanese successes upon the Chinese than about the ultimate result of the campaign.

According to advices from the north, cables a Pekin correspondent, the native Chinese are becoming excited, owing to reports which are reaching them of continued success of the Japanese arms.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

Viceroy Alexieff refuses to receive any more foreign war correspondents.

It is admitted that half a million men would have been required to hold southern Manchuria.

Three thousand bandits are camped outside of the walls of Newchwang ready to begin looting.

The increasingly threatening attitude of the Chinese also is a serious factor in the situation which may contribute to induce Gen. Kuropatkin to evacuate Liao yang.

Red placards all over Moscow and Kharkoff provinces summon the reserves of the Tenth and Seventeenth army corps to the colors, and these two corps will be dispatched to the far East as quickly as possible, thus adding 100,000 men to Kuropatkin's forces.

Admiral Togo is hoping that Russia may succeed in dicker for a few more warships. Business in Admiral Togo's line is likely to be rather dull otherwise.

Liao yang is expected to be the scene of the next battle between the Russian and Japanese armies, unless Gen. Kuropatkin shall decide to continue his retreat northward to Mukden.

The Russian authorities are completely in the dark as to what is happening in the territory occupied by the enemy, except such news as comes from the newspapers abroad and originating from Japanese sources.

ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.

Last year scientific circles were agitated over mosquitoes, and some of the government entomologists incubated much literature regarding their destruction and the assertion that they inoculate human beings with fever germs. The mosquito still thrives and manages to get in his work. There has recently arrived in New Orleans, from Cuba, a consignment of 600 live mosquitoes enroute to St. Louis. They are for the purpose of demonstrating the transmission of yellow fever germs. They are kept in a cage and fed on sugar and water. Their eggs are hatched in a short time and the species are kept in existence in this way, since the youngest take the place of those which die. It is assumed that microbes are bequeathed.

Witchcraft has again broken out in Salem, Mass., or at least many people in that town think so. A Sunday Crusade has been started which closes up everything in the city except drug stores and churches. Florists, undertakers, restaurants, etc., all have to submit to the law. Some people journey to Lynn to get something to eat. The attempt to force people to be good at the point of the law always fails. In Brooklyn, New York, the courts have decided that it is legal to play base ball on Sunday. This would never do for Salem.

There is a wide spread opinion that the government of the United States is very expensive because the Congress appropriates about one billion dollars at its two sessions. The Department of Commerce and Labor has been looking into the matter and finds as follows: The amount of money per capita of the population necessary to be raised for the government is in the United States, $7.97; in Spain, $10.09; in France $17.84; in Great Britain, $21.39; in New Zealand, $38.33.

Recently a man in New York was found on the door steps of the Russell Sage mansion praying for the wealthy and venerable banker. He was immediately considered insane. He will understand hereafter that prayers for millionaires should always be offered in the churches. Besides there comes a time, according to some good folks when a man is past praying for. Mr. and Mrs. Sage are good and respectable people and when Mr. Sage dies he will leave everything.

The late Herbert Spencer caused his autobiography to be set up in type, corrected the proofs, and to guard against loss had a few copies printed. The book is a delineation of the author from his own point of view. This isn't a bad idea. It should be imitated in America. Think how a book by Howells titled "What I think of myself," or a work by Wm. Jennings Bryan called "Peeps into my own Soul," would sell on the railway train! capital.

A crank with a loaded revolver was recently found in John D. Rockefeller's Bible Class in New York. He did not get a chance to use his weapon and was handed over to the police. Mr. Rockefeller kept cool when the discovery was made. He said it was hard to understand why the wicked so often live at ease and prosper, while the righteous suffer. It is a puzzle. Perhaps they have neglected to buy stock in the Standard Oil concern.

The closing of the cotton factories in Fall River, Mass., and the throwing of thousands out of work, may not have been the cause of perversion, but it is noted that recently in that city fifteen converts to Mormonism were baptized in the chilly water. They went into the stream robed in black, and a large crowd witnessed the ceremony. Perhaps Senator Lodge can tell why Mormonism is spreading in the old Bay State.

One of the questions to be considered by the Methodist conference in session at Los Angeles, Cal., is what can the church do to aid the cause of temperance? It might at least allow its clergy to preach a temperance sermon, now and then. There is much need of this in Boston, where the police hauled in last year 27,700 "drunks." Bottling up the drunks and unhooking the liquor saloons will never work a temperance reform.

There has been filed in one of the courts in Chicago a bill asking for an injunction against ticket scalpers. It is the purpose of an injunction to preserve property, but it will be a queer application of this instrumentality if it can keep up the price of railroad tickets.

Senator Beveridge will make one speech in Wisconsin during the campaign. Wisconsin doesn't need many speeches to keep it in the republican column. The Senator is choice of his words and never speaks unless he has something to say.

Plainman's Song.

Oh, give me a clutch in my hand of as much
Or the mane of a horse as a hold,
And let his desire to be gone be a fire,
And let him be snoring and bold!
And then with a swing, on his back let me fling
My leg that is naked as steel,
And let us away, to the end of the day,
To quiet the tempest I feel!
And keen as the wind, with the cities behind,
And prairie before like a sea,
With billows of grass that lash as we pass—
Make way for my stallion and me!
And up with his nose, till his nostrils aglow,
And out with his tail and his mane,
And up with my breast till the breath of the West
Is smiling me—knight of the plain!
Ah, give me a gleam of your eyes, love, a dream
With the kiss of the sun and the dew,
And mountain nor swale, nor scorch nor the hall
Shall halt me from spurring to you!
For wild as a flood-melted snow for its blood—
By crag, gorge, or torrent, or shoal,
I'll ride on my steed and lay, tho' it bleed
My heart at your feet—and my soul!

Dr. Elgar is one of those fortunate men whose wives are helpmates in a very liberal and practical sense, for it is said that we owe to Mrs. Elgar some of the most beautiful words—notably two charming songs—to which her husband's music has been wedded. There are several other notable men whose wives are thus able to share their work. To mention but a few, there are M. and Mrs. Curie, who together have made the epoch-making discovery of radium; Sir Lawrence and Lady Tadmor play the brush in adjacent studios and criticize and help each other's work; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webb study and write ably together on economic problems; Mr. and Mrs. Meynell ply equally busy pens, and so do Mr. and Mrs. Leighton, rivals and partners in fiction, and Mr. and Mrs. Coulson Kernahan—Westminster Gazette.

Made Money From Free Meals.

One of the oldest institutions in the city of Melbourne, Australia, known as the "eight o'clock rush," is in danger of extinction. For half a century a philanthropic restaurant proprietor has been giving a free meal at 8 o'clock every evening to newly arrived immigrants or respectable persons who were temporarily "down on their luck." No professional loafers or chronically unemployed were encouraged. The attendance averaged about a hundred, and every Melbourne journalist considered it his duty to write a description of the scene at least once in his career. The proprietor of the restaurant is now retired from business. He is said to have received legacies from people whom he had thus befriended and who afterward prospered.

AN ODD INDIAN RELIC.

Autograph Letter from Thomas Jefferson, Written Century Ago. An autograph letter from Thomas Jefferson, written a hundred years ago to the Indians of the Louisiana purchase, has recently been unearthed from the archives of the Sao and Fox Indians in Oklahoma. The Indians in whose possession the document has been for a century have not known its value, but intuitively they have carefully kept the letter during all their migrations. The letter, which is quite long, reveals Mr. Jefferson's astuteness in dealing with the Indians. At his invitation several powerful chiefs journeyed from west of the Mississippi river to Washington and were entertained at the nation's capital. When they started on their journey home they carried the president's letter. In the letter Mr. Jefferson called attention to the long journey they had made through the white man's territory and how the white men had improved the land during the short while they had been in possession of it. The letter tactfully shows to the Indians how hopeless would be a contest against the whites. Jefferson in the letter called the Indians his children and advised against tribal wars.

Temperature of Insects.

The temperature of the human body is essentially the same in the tropics and in the polar zones. Insects at rest have a temperature practically the same as that of the surrounding air in ordinary conditions of heat and of humidity. Under usual conditions the temperature of an insect rises with that of the surrounding air, only more slowly. When the air is very moist the insect's temperature may rise more rapidly than that of the air. When the insect begins to move its temperature rises and continues to rise until the motion ceases.

Old Smallpox Germs.

A peculiar case recently came to light at the McKinley Wood ranch, southwest of Big Horn, in Wyoming. A member of the Mallock family, who reside at the Wood ranch, was stricken with smallpox. The ranch was quarantined and the patient recovered. For a time the physicians were at a loss to know where the patient contracted the disease, for he had not been away from the ranch for many months. The fact finally came to light that McKinley Wood, former owner of the place, died of smallpox seven years ago. Evidently the germs were not completely eradicated, and after a lapse of seven years infected the present sufferer. The doctors say this case is almost without a parallel in the history of this disease.

Fish Story of Interest.

In the harbor of Sydney, N. S. W., thirty-four years ago a fisherman killed and towed ashore a shark, cut him up, and found a London newspaper inside of him. In the paper was the announcement of the war between France and Germany. The shark had outlasted the steamer by which the mail was coming, and the discoverer had the news to himself. He gave his information to a wealthy wool dealer, who bought all the season's clip at eighteen cents a pound and sold at seventy-two cents a pound after the news of war had arrived by the ordinary channel. He cleared, it is said, $20,000,000 by the deal. The man who killed the shark and extracted the news received a battered silk hat and a five-shilling piece for his information.

Compromised With the Rat.

A Portland man who maintains a summer cottage on the cape has during the past winter exercised a bit of diplomacy that achieved the desired result nicely. During last fall a large rat made its appearance about the cottage that defied all efforts to trap or exterminate it, and the aggressive campaign was abandoned in despair. But it would not do to leave the rodent in full and free possession of the premises, as the mischief it might inflict on the furnishings during the winter would be considerable. The owner concluded to try an expedient that suggested itself to him, and as before stated, the plan proved an emphatic success. At least once a week the cottage has been visited and a quantity of food left in the cellar. This arrangement was at once ratified by the rodent, which has abstained from depredations in consideration for the bounty upon which it has waxed sleek.—Kennebec Journal.

A Criminal Paradise.

Spain's criminal settlement in the Zafarina Islands is said to be quite a paradise of convicts. Their liberty is restricted only so far that they must not leave the islands and must return at night to prison, unless they obtain leave of absence for the night. At 6 o'clock in the morning the convicts leave the prison. Some do a little work, but the majority go straight to the various wine shops and hostleries, where they pass the day drinking, singing and occasionally breaking the monotony of life with a little knife—each respectable prisoner carries his "faca" (knife) day and night with him. This idyllic state of things appears less strange if one considers that the prison wardens—the "capatares"—are the liquor sellers of the islands, and that a good deal of illicit trading is carried on in those places of resort, the prisoners buying revolvers, ammunition, housebreakers' tools and similar articles.—Chicago News.

...ELECTROPINOS... 29095,

Is a beautiful bay horse, with black points, stands 16 hands and 11 inch high and weighs 1,240 pounds; foaled 1893. He got first premium on his colts and also sweepstakes on horses at the McHenry County Fair and has won 11 blue ribbons. He is compactly built, close coupled, strong at all points, perfect in form, of very fine finish and is without a particle of coarseness. Measured by breeding and individuality this young horse is a hard one to excel. He is a show horse fit to appear in any company. His style is superior, and in addition to these qualities has great natural speed, and we predict that the race horse qualities of the Electropinos, intensified by such fashionable breeding as that of the Wilkes and back of that by the Dictator and Abdallah 15 bloods, can scarcely fail of the best results.

Electropinos has wonderful natural speed, and we predict if properly trained will sire extreme speed. He will be traveled from April 15 to July 15, after that he will be tracked.

TERMS: I have placed the services of Electropinos at $12.00 if paid before Nov. 15, or $15.00 to insure a live colt. If mare is disposed insurance becomes due, which is within reach of every man who owns a brood mare.

For further particulars call on or address,

Having leased the horse, Pat Uno, will make the season of 1904 at my place, 1/2 mile east of Hickory Corners, $10.00 to insure, all mares disposed, services to become due.

Effect of Rocking Baby.

Dr. Manacoline, the famous Russian authority on sleep phenomena, says that rocking is an artificial method of inducing slumber. The process fatigues consciousness by a series of monotonous sensations and incidentally deprives the brain of its blood supply. Absence of blood from the brain makes sleep. The influence of the lullaby is objectionable, but not equally so. A baby will go to sleep unaided when it needs sleep.

Cheapest Illuminant.

The electric arc is by a very perceptible amount the cheapest all-around illuminant. While cheap gas in mantle burners is superior to the incandescent lamp, candle for candle, in mere cost, it can not meet the arc on even terms, and if the consumer is deaf to all arguments based on hygiene and color blind to boot, the central station still holds the trump card in the arc, says Electrical World.

Quite Feasible.

Joseph M. Edwards, who travels for a Baltimore dry goods house, told the following at the Grand the other evening:

"In Baltimore there's an old bachelor I'm acquainted with who's a bit of a wit in his way. He lives, or rather did, before the fire, as it burned him out, in a very dilapidated house, and his rooms were always in great disorder."

"Why don't you get married?" I said to him one day. "Then you would have some one to keep the place tidy, and make it homelike."

"The fact is, I've never thought of it," he replied, "but it seems quite feasible that a better half would want better quarters."

"Since the fire I have not seen the old fellow, and no one seems to know of his present whereabouts."—New York Globe.

Heating Houses in England. The average house in England is dependent for its heat upon grate fires in parlor, dining room and bedrooms. The halls and bathrooms are cold and uncomfortable. It is true the temperature rarely falls below 32 degrees in the middle and southern portions of the kingdom, yet the houses are the reverse of comfortable.

Hate and Holy Communion. An English vicar writes in his parish magazine: "The fashion of ladies' hats, as regards circumstance, renders it somewhat difficult to administer the chalice to them in holy communion. The head is bent low, and thus the whole face being hidden by the hat it is beyond the power of possibility for the priest to know whether the sacred element is received or not."

National Church Convention. In order to give expression to a widespread movement toward religious comity, the National Federation of Churches is preparing for a national convention of evangelical denominations to be held next year. Practically all religious bodies in this country, except the Roman Catholics, will be asked to participate in this convention.

BEFORE YOU BUY YOUR SUPPLY OF PAINT

In these days of sharp competition it is well to see to it that you get what you pay for. There are so many brands of House Paints on the market nowadays, advertised as "Pure" (but little better than "dope") that a man ought to know positively what he is buying. We suggest to those about to paint to make a practical test and convince themselves. Buy a small can of Monarch Mixed Paint and one of any other brand with which you may have been favorably impressed, selecting about the same colors and paint out a few feet. Carefully measure the paint so that you use no more of one than the other. Thus, with the conditions the same, you can determine for yourself which paint has the better body or covering capacity, which spreads the smoothest and looks the best. If you do not decide in favor of the Monarch Paint we will refund the money you paid for the can of Monarch used in the experiment.

MONARCH PAINT

is guaranteed absolutely pure and sold subject to chemical analysis.

MONARCH PAINT

in point of covering capacity and durability is unsurpassed by any painting material made.

MONARCH PAINT

being made of pure materials covers 25 per cent more surface, wears longer, and is more economical than adulterated paint.

KUROPATKIN CAN BE PATIENT.

Russian General Will Not Fight Until He Is Ready.

European writers on military topics generally agree as to a marked difference between the late Gen. Skobelev and Gen. Kuropatkin. By all accounts Skobelev was a Russian Phil Sheridan, with a dash of Custer in him; Kuropatkin is a compound of McClellan and "Pop" Thomas. He has a rooted objection to fighting before he has completed his preparations and everything just to his mind. He thinks it is much better to be safe than to be sorry. He is quite capable of falling back before the Japanese advance again and again. But when he once gets ready to fight things will immediately become very interesting.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre, of Shepardsville, W. Va., says, "I had a severe case of bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It is infallible for croup, whooping cough, grip, pneumonia and consumption. Try it. It is guaranteed by J. H. Swan, druggist. Trial bottle free. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00.

When I Am Gone.

When I shall fold my hands in lasting sleep,
All done the tasks to me assigned,
I wonder, will there be someone to weep,
Or will the world seem not to mind,
When I am gone?

When I have passed away, will someone say,
"As near my new-made grave he waits,
Stern Death comes to us all, to each his days."
And then pass coldly on without a sigh,
When I am gone?

When I have ceased my work, will there be none
to place a rose upon my tomb,
And speak a word of praise for some deed done?
Some kind word said, and mourn my doom.

Quick Arrest.

J. A. Gullede of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested further inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c. at J. H. Swan's druggist.

French Supply of Cotton.

"I have not much doubt that the French in a few years will be able to supply themselves with cotton, principally, if not wholly, from their West African possessions," says United States Consul Strickland of Senegal. An Italian syndicate, with a capital of $100,000, will foster cotton growing in East Africa.

FATE OF AN EXPLORER.

Made An Idiot By Torture Inflicted By Tibetans.

His last journey was to the North, into the strange countries that in close the Himalayas, and when they found him again, he was like that again. Colin pointed to the portrait of the stricken man's son. He was like that—only worse—far worse! He had set out young, vigorous, alert; he came back bowed as if with age, his hair white, his face sunken and furrowed, his mind disordered, and peculiarly horrible must have been the expression of his eyes. For the lids had been slit across the middle, and were now but half healed. He is said to have tottered into the station without knowing it for what it was; as though he had been led to a point in the road and left to take his chance. Thus he returned again, and no one knew where he had been or what great trials had so changed him; for he had no answer to the questions they put, and he was alone, he knew nothing, his memory and with it his whole past seemed lost to him, nor did he even recognize the friends into whose care he had come. They sent him home after a while, to this house; and here he was won back to some semblance of life by the devoted woman, whom, later on, he married—the mother of his son. He lived here quietly for a number of years, he and his wife and the boy, and then one night he blew his brains out.—Metropolitan Magazine.

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S. C. News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea and so severe were the pains that we called a physician who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. O. Bailey, Editor. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Beautifying Rooms.

So much may be done toward beautifying rooms by selecting suitable pictures, yet so much depends upon the proper hanging of them, that it is no wonder the result is not always satisfactory.

Indeed, the hanging of a picture makes it a great success or a disastrous failure as a decoration. Where there is a blaze of light, for example, either from windows in the daytime or lamps at night, it is unwise to hang pictures whose colors are vivid, and, on the other hand, those same pictures perceptibly brighten dark corners, hallways, etc., says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Small pictures should be grouped; they gain style in this way. The artistic plaster medallions also look much better together than when distributed at intervals about the rooms.

Much more interest is given a picture if a portrait of its author hangs near, and a model music room had numbers of good photographs of musicians, framed uniformly hung at a regular height around its walls.

Condemns Vertical Writing.

The Chicago board of education has condemned the vertical system of writing. Through its official bulletin the board says: "It is an injustice to the child to impose a system of handwriting upon him and force him to adhere to it through his growing years at the cost of not only suppressing his individuality in this acquired mode of expression, but also at the sacrifice of his time and the mental fluency that comes with the ease which accompanies a mode of expression fitting the individual's characteristics."

THE MAGIC YELLOW METAL.

Struggle for Its Possession Is What Moves the World.

A doctor at Butte, Mont., indorses the assertion made by many miners thereabouts that a peculiar ore found in zinc blende and emitting a violet light possesses remarkable curative qualities when carried by them in their pockets. The new mineral, for want of a better name, is called "radiumite."

The Butte doctor has made an astonishing report to the Butte Medical society, confirming the stories of the miners in cases of rheumatism, stomach ailments, nervous and kindred disorders.

For ages the philosophers and alchemists sought for a general cure, all in a stone. Later science has laughed at them. From the stone to the ore is but a short step. But, when all is said, the thing in the pocket that cures the most ills is gold.

It is not the possession of gold, but the longing for it, that has filled the world with the sweet hum of industry; not the storing of it, but the striving for it, that has brought to mankind the blessings of resolve, effort, health, content.

Twine from Wisconsin Wins Grass.

Wire grass twine is a new product of the Northwest, which promises to relieve the stringency of the supply of Manila twine during the wheat harvest season. The wire grass from which the twine is made is grown in Minnesota and Wisconsin, and other products as well as twine, are made from it. C. W. Crawford of Indianapolis, explained the nature of the new product.

"For the last ten years or more," he said, "the wheat harvest season has assumed the aspect of a bugbear to farmers who did not have a large supply of twine on hand. Without twine binders cannot run, and without binders it is impossible to harvest wheat."

"The only variety of twine that could be used in the past was the Manila variety, imported from the Philippine Islands. The supply of that always gave out before the harvest ended, and the lack of it often occasioned great loss. The new wire grass has proved to be equal, if not superior to Manila twine, and the farmers may rest easy now."

Device for Catching Rats.

A Germantown grocer has a plan for freeing his store of rats which he declares superior to any patented trap. The rodents appeared in such great numbers that for a time the owner of the store despaired of being able to cope with them. After all ordinary ways of killing them had been tried unsuccessfully, Policeman Everman, who is known as "the inventive cop," rigged up the device which is rapidly decreasing the rats. A large packing box was carefully lined with heavy tin and placed in the middle of the floor. One corner was held up by an upright stick, and some choice bait was securely fastened underneath. A piece of twine was then attached to the upright and the end run through a crevice in the door. Every night when Everman passes the store he pulls the string and the box falls, usually imprisoning between fifteen and twenty rats.—Philadelphia Record.

Retort Courteous.

During the trial of an accident case against one of the city trolley companies an elderly lady was summoned as a witness for the plaintiff, says the San Francisco Call. The attorney for the railroad company put her under a very severe cross-examination and tried the best he could to make her appear as ridiculous as possible. But he reckoned without his host.

"Madame," said he, "do I understand you to say that you were there at the time the accident happened?"

"How do I—?" she began.
"Stop!" he cried. "Don't indulge in any long dissertations. Answer my question, yes or no. If you don't I shall be obliged to ask the court to compel you to answer. Listen. Do I understand you to say—"

Quick as a flash the old lady replied: "I'm sure I don't know what you understand me to say. You may be an idiot!"

After that courtesy ruled the day.—Lippincott's.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "A patient was attacked with hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50 cents at J. H. Swan's.

Rate on Shipboard.

The rat is a great traveler. The hold of a ship is to him an earthly paradise. He always finds goods there and various kinds of provisions. Embarkation has no difficulties for him. He works by night, when no one can place obstacles in his way, and while the ship is moored to the quay. He enters by passing along the ropes, communicating freely between the vessel and the dock.

British vs. American Unions.
A recent United States labor bureau bulletin states that trade unionism in England is twenty-five years in advance of that in this country in its methods and that sympathetic strikes are becoming unknown in England.

QUICK AND NEAT RETORTS.

English Lawyer Credited With Two Very Pretty Answers.

Serjeant Ballantyne has always a good story to tell. "I remember," relates a writer in a contemporary, "that during the Tichborne trial a counsel who had made his name, notorious was swaggering about the number of distinguished persons who had attended one of his receptions. 'I give you my word, sir,' said he, 'that on the occasion in question there was a line of carriages from one end of our street to the other.' Of course there was," replied Ballantyne; "you live opposite a cabstand!"

"A friend of mine who was rather fond of boasting of his connection with the British army, on the strength of being an officer in the militia, was one evening discussing the Indian mutiny. Observing that the serjeant was smiling a trifle contemptuously, he turned on him. 'I dare say you think I know nothing about it,' he said, rather angrily. 'Tell me I was in Calcutta all through 1857, and yet you imagine I had nothing to do with the Indian mutiny!' 'Nothing to do with the Indian mutiny!' repeated Ballantyne, with a drawl. 'Why, my dear fellow, I believe you were the cause of it!'"

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

The prompt relief from the severe pains of sciatica and rheumatism which is afforded by Chamberlain's Pain Balm is alone worth many times its cost. Mr. Willard C. Vail, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., writes: "I am troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia of the nerves and Chamberlain's Balm gives relief quicker than any I have ever used." For sale by all druggists.

The Printer's Error.

George Moore says of Walter Pater that he wrote with difficulty, and each sentence of his books was written out on a separate piece of paper. Once, when Arthur Symonds pointed out a sentence he could not understand—a long, intricate sentence of ten lines or more—Pater examined it, comma by comma, a puzzled look upon his face all the while. At last he said: "I see—the printer has omitted a dash."

Just Like Our Own.

The occasion was the history examination at a school, and the question, "Give an account of the marriage laws of the Greeks." One youth's reply ran as follows: "The marriage laws of the Greeks were something like our own. No Greek man was allowed to marry more than one wife. This system was known as monogamy."—New Yorker.

EXPENSIVE GAME OF GOLF.

New Yorker Willing to Pay for the Privilege of Profanity.

One of New York's prominent clergymen who is an enthusiastic golfer was playing over the Morristown links recently with a clubman whose language was not always suited to clerical ears. After a badly sliced drive the latter, from force of habit, let fall a word or two which required an apology to his reverend companion.

"Beg pardon, doctor," he exclaimed, "but it hopped out before I knew it. If I make any more strokes like that, though, I won't vouch for what I may say. You'll have to forgive me. It's a bad habit I've got into."

"Mr. H—," said the clergyman, thinking to put an effectual quietus on this sort of thing, "suppose you agree to pay me a dollar for every oath, the money to be given to charity."

Mr. H. looked dubious.

"All right, I'll go you on that," he said, finally.

All went smoothly for awhile until he "fizzled"; his drive, when out came the dollar bill, which the clergyman quickly pocketed. On the next hole he drove into the bunker and had to go down into his pockets again. This time out came a twenty-dollar bill.

"But I haven't the change," exclaimed the doctor.

"Then don't bother about it, doctor, for I intend to swear it out."

And he did, by the time he got out of that bunker.

South Carolina Tin Mines.

The newly discovered tin mines at Gaffney, S. C., bid fair to prove much richer than was at first thought. Shafts have been sunk to a depth of fifty feet, and the report is that "the deeper the shaft goes the richer the deposit is found to be." One expert expresses the opinion that the mines will prove to be the richest of their kind in the world. Machinery is being established for the working of several tons of ore per day.

Gasoline Engines.

It can be understood to what a nicety the mechanism of a gasoline engine is adjusted when it is stated that to make 1,000 revolutions a minute means that in a four-cycle engine there are 500 sprays of gasoline forced into the cylinder, 500 times the electric battery makes a spark, and 500 times the escape valve is opened to let the gas out.

MAJOR GOT HIS TROUT.

Enthusiastic Fisherman Not Scared by the Apaches.

Col. Edward Hunter, U. S. A., retired, says that when he was a young captain in the army, fighting Indians in Arizona, the major of the regiment was an enthusiastic trout fisherman. On one occasion when the regiment camped near a trout stream the major, as soon as his duties would permit, took his rod and began to fish. Presently an arrow whizzed by his head and then a rifle bullet sung close to his ear. The Apaches were hovering near, and seeing the major alone and unarmed, were trying to pick him off. Some men, under the circumstances, would have quit fishing. Not so the major. He called out a detail of armed men and had them stationed along either bank of the stream, the men moving down stream as the major fished along, the soldiers keeping pace with the major and beating back the Redskins every time they advanced to the attack. Thus protected, the major fished peacefully and comfortably and succeeded in securing a fine string of rainbow trout.

Made Young Again.

Compulsory Education.

Willie Moran is only twelve years of age, but as bright and shrewd as a boy many years his senior. He is naturally a good boy, but will not go to school. It was his hatred for everything that looks like a book that caused him to be hauled before Judge Murasky during a session of the Juvenile Court. The judge had a long talk with him and his mother, and then called a truant officer to him, gave him some whispered instructions and dismissed Willie. Out in the corridor Willie met a number of his comrades. "Say, Willie," they asked him, "what did der Judge do ter yer?" "Did he send you to der home?" "Naw," answered the gamin, with a look of disgust. "Worse dan dat. He told der big cop vot arrested me to call at me mother's house every morning to take me to school."—San Francisco Call.
